About: Prostate Cancer

Prostate cancer is the most common cancer in men.

Black men, those with a family history of the disease, men exposed to some chemicals, and veterans are at greater risk.

Men at high risk should talk to their healthcare provider about screening at age 40 or earlier, with all others starting at age 50.

Build awareness around self-exams, screenings, regular healthcare provider visits, and encouragement for others.

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

[Organization Name] Joins Men's Health Network to Promote September as Prostate Cancer Awareness Month

[Organization Name] is proud to stand with Men's Health Network (MHN) this September to recognize Prostate Cancer Awareness Month and encourage greater awareness, early detection, and support for both men and their families.

Prostate cancer is one of the most common cancers among men, with 1 in 8 men diagnosed in their lifetime. While the statistics are significant, early detection through regular checkups and screenings can dramatically improve outcomes.

"Prostate cancer impacts not only men, but also their families and loved ones," said Jennifer Thompson, VP at MHN. "By encouraging men to take charge of their health, we can save lives and strengthen families and communities."

Throughout September, [Organization Name] will be sharing resources from MHN's Prostate Cancer Awareness Toolkit to help start important conversations. The toolkit provides educational resources, graphics, and suggested actions that individuals and organizations can use to get involved.

Additional Ways to Participate Include:

- Downloading and sharing the Prostate Cancer Awareness Toolkit
- Hosting a fundraiser or community health fair
- Becoming a Men's Health Ambassador
- Encouraging men to schedule their checkups and screenings
- Signing up for the Men's Health Network newsletter

Prostate Cancer Awareness Month is a time to build empathy, raise awareness, and take meaningful steps toward better health for men and boys. [Organization Name] encourages community members, businesses, and partners to join the movement and make a difference.

Engaging Your Community: Awareness Activities

➔ “WEAR BLUE DAY” CAMPAIGN

Host a ‘Wear BLUE Day’ to raise awareness and to fund-raise to support education for men and boys about regular physical and mental health checkups.

Events can feature prostate health education, local speakers, topics on books/podcasts, fatherhood, or can be focused on a specific health issues that affect men and boys, such as:

- ➔ Cancers Like Prostate, Testicular, Lung, or Other Cancers
- ➔ Mental Health
- ➔ Diabetes or Heart Disease

➔ HOST A HEALTH FAIR EVENT

HEALTHZONE is a Men Health Network’s Event Training Manual aimed at guiding others on how to plan, conduct, and evaluate one’s own health event, at a local-level or through larger, corporate settings. The information in the guide informs on screening events, health fairs, exhibition examples, and so much more.

Sample Activity: Homeschool

➔ ACTIVITY GUIDANCE:

Adding a prostate cancer awareness activity to the homeschool learning schedule fosters health literacy, empowers early detection via self-examination education, instills lifelong habits of well-being and hygiene, and cultivates a sense of personal responsibility. By integrating this vital topic into education, students gain the knowledge and skills to prioritize their health, advocate for themselves, and contribute to a culture of proactive wellness in their families and communities.

➔ AGES 3 - 11, FOCUS ON HYGIENE & HEALTHY HABITS:

Teach your 3 - 11 year-olds the importance of proper hygiene for their genital area. Show how to wash the area gently with mild soap and water during bath time. Talk about the importance of keeping the area clean and dry to prevent bacteria. Make sure to use age-appropriate language to explain why hygiene is essential for health. Encourage them to ask questions and reinforce good hygiene habits regularly. This activity instills lifelong habits that promote cleanliness and well-being in the testicular region.

➔ AGES 12+, FAMILY HISTORY & RISK FACTORS:

Engage your 12+ year-old sons in a discussion about family history and risk factors related to prostate cancer. Encourage them to know family medical history and identify any relatives who've had prostate cancer. Discuss lifestyle factors such as smoking, obesity, and exposure to certain chemicals that may increase the risk. This activity promotes awareness of personal risk factors and empowers them to make informed choices for their health.

Prostate Cancer Self-Examination Activity: Encourage your 12+ to learn about prostate cancer by guiding them through a self-examination. Provide them with educational resources and demonstrate the proper technique. Discuss the importance of regular self-checks for early detection. Encourage open dialogue about any concerns or questions they may have.

This activity fosters responsibility for their health and empowers them to take proactive measures against prostate cancer.
